

Moving On

This little one I've cared for
Is moving on today
I'll try to be the strong one
As those footsteps walk away
My love will always follow
Wherever she shall go
Though I will not be with her
I will pray for her to know
That the one who loved and cared for her
Did not leave her as it seems
Though she moves on, she'll still be here
Within my treasured dreams
It's been my task to guide her
Protect her from all harm
That task now falls to someone new
As I cross my empty arms
And wish and hope and pray for her
To know another one
Who loves her in this special way
As I have always done.